

ATTRIBUTES OF

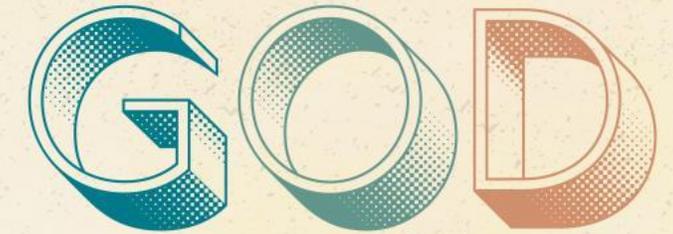

“It is true that in terms of space, time and culture, they and the historical epoch to which they belonged are a very long way away from us. But the link between them and us is not found at that level. The link is God himself. For the same God they had to do with is the same God with whom we have to do. We could sharpen the point by saying the exactly same God; for God does not change in the least particular.”
