YORK, PA

Healing Teens • Restoring Families • Transforming Communities

House of Hope York, PA is a nonprofit, biblically based program that offers a residential home for hurting teen girls ages 14-17 and support for their families. The home opened in 2012 and houses up to 6 girls at a time. Their goal is to provide healing and restoration through individual and family counseling combined with education, recreation, life skills, and spiritual growth.

In addition, they provide outpatient counseling services to anyone seeking help in the community. Their program is biblically based, and they offer individual, family, and couples counseling services in their office in Jacobus, PA.

CURRENT PRAYER REQUESTS

- For the rebuilding and restoring of relationships in the families that are currently in our program.
- For another counselor, so we can take in new residents.
- For staff to have Christ's wisdom, understanding, and compassion in all we do.

All thanks & praise be to God for what He has done through this ministry for His glory and the good of His children.
